

COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGY FOR THE AGEING POPULATION

Authors

Guidera, Angela

Hutchinson, Lynda

Short Abstract

With the increasing ageing population, more Australians are likely to find themselves with complex communication needs, due to degenerative conditions, cancer or cerebrovascular accidents. Older people face particular challenges finding communication solutions that meet their needs. This presentation will highlight technology options for older people with complex communication needs.